

Grounds for Divorce

in Maryland

Maryland is a state that still requires "grounds" for a divorce. In other words, you must provide the family court with a reason for the split. The grounds for divorce in Maryland include:

12-month separation

Mutual consent, if the couple has no minor children and reaches agreement on the terms of the divorce

Adultery

Desertion (specific conditions apply)

Certain criminal convictions

Insanity (specific conditions apply)

Cruelty of treatment

Excessively vicious conduct
